

THE CASTLE OF MISFORTUNE

In 642 B.C, there lived an Indian King who knew that someday Greeks would attack them. So, he decided to call sorcerers and asked them to curse the castle. Indeed, the Greek Army arrived in India in the coming days and destroyed everything except the castle because it would be the new house of Greek Emperor. He started living in the castle with his wife, his daughter and his most loyal soldiers.

His loyal soldiers would protect him from his enemies. After a while, the Roman Emperor decided to attack the Greek Emperor and his colony living in this castle in India. After 3 years, the war, this time ended with the victory of the Romans. The Roman Emperor decided to destroy everything except the castle. He thought that it was a pretty castle and decided to live there.

But 2 months after the Romans started to live in the castle, all the water resources around the castle suddenly dried up and the Romans died of thirst. From that day on, every single empire was afraid of India and their sorcerers. One day, the son of the Indian king who ordered to make a curse on the castle came back to his native land and ordered the sorcerers to break the curse. Obviously, they did. And from that day on, the new Indian king lived there with his family and soldiers and he had a beautiful life till the end of his days.
